

ABBAJAY AUTOMATED CONTROL SYSTEMS

David Abbajay, former owner of the Feed Barn stores in Bend and Redmond, has formed a new business called Abbajay Automated Control Systems. It is based in Bend, but will market its products and expertise throughout Central and Southern Oregon.

With a background as a programmer and project manager with several high-tech companies, Abbajay is excited to bring new resources to the regions. Abbajay has formed his new company with the intention of being very customer-oriented and offering solutions tailored to each customer's needs and budget. Their goal is to understand how their customers want to live and work, and then work with them to create the most comprehensive and cost-effective lighting and temperature control system possible.

Abbjay currently represents two manufacturers that provide integrated automated solutions for homes, light commercial buildings and planned communities. LiteTouch is a leading manufacturer of lighting control systems, and AprilAire provides comprehensive integrated temperature control systems. Abbajay is the exclusive representative for both lines of products in the Central and southern Oregon markets.
